LEA Profile

Mastery Charter School — Clymer Elementary is a turnaround school based on the model developed by Mastery Charter High School -- Lenfest Campus (founded in 2001). Mastery's mission is to prepare urban youth for success in higher education and the global economy. Mastery Charter was selected by the Clymer Renaissance School Advisory Council for complete restart in March 2011. Clymer is a K – 6 school in the North Philadelphia section of the city.

The turnaround has been very successful. Before the turnaround there was a significant disparity between Clymer test scores in Reading and Math and the state average. The school has shown strong PSSA growth, attendance, student retention, and behavior/reduction in violence, increase in parent participation, and reading level growth K-2.

Local Assessment

English Language Arts

Data	Comments/Notable Observations
The local MAP benchmark data for ELA projects proficiency for 19% of students on the PSSA, which would be a notable increase over the prior year PSSA rate of 11% proficiency.	The local data projecting an increase in proficiency rate are hopefully a sign that our current ELA interventions are having a positive effect.
46% of students met the MAP Conditional Growth Percentile threshold in ELA, a slight increase from 41% the prior year but falling short of the goal of 55% of students.	In order to increase achievement significantly, we must drive stronger growth.

English Language Arts Summary

Strengths

Implementation of the Amplify CKLA Curriculum

Challenges

Continuing to increase student growth on local benchmark assessments

Mathematics

Data	Comments/Notable Observations
The local MAP benchmark data for math projects proficiency for 6% of students on the PSSA, which would be a slight increase over the prior year PSSA rate of 3% proficiency.	While the projected increase in proficiency rate is hopefully a sign of progress, the overall low rate indicates a need for sustained intervention in math achievement.
An impressive 64% of students met the MAP Conditional Growth Percentile threshold in ELA, up from 47% the prior year and exceeding the goal of 55% of students.	Given the low proficiency rates in math, it is encouraging to see an indication of strong growth.

True This student group is not a focus in this plan.

Students with Disabilities

False This student group is not a focus in this plan.

Data	Comments/Notable Observations
The local MAP benchmark data for ELA projects proficiency for 6% of students with disabilities on the PSSA, which would represent an increase over the prior year PSSA rate of 4% proficiency.	Students with IEPs continue to lag significantly behind their general education peers in proficiency on ELA PSSAs.
The local MAP benchmark data for math projects proficiency for 1% of students with disabilities on the PSSA, even with the prior year PSSA rate of 1% proficiency.	Students with IEPs continue to lag significantly behind their general education peers in proficiency on math PSSAs.
79% of students made 80% or more progress on their annual IEP goals by the end of the school year, exceeding the goal of 75%.	While significantly fewer students with IEPs demonstrate proficiency on state assessments than their general education peers, most are making substantial progress on the achievement goals set by their IEP teams.

Analyzing (Strengths and Challenges)

Analyzing Challenges

Analyzing Challenges	Discussion Points	Check for Priority
Percent Proficient/Advanced in English Language Arts/Literature	Proficiency in ELA was at 11%, significantly lower than the 2019 rate of 25%. Our root cause hypothesis is that the decline is a result of learning loss related to the COVID-19 pandemic including lost instructional time, ineffective remote instruction, increased student absences, and related trauma. One year back in the classroom full time has not been enough to recover lost ground.	True
Percent Proficient/Advanced in Mathematics/Algebra 1	Proficiency in math was at 3%, significantly lower than the 2019 rate of 10%. Our root cause hypothesis is that the decline is a result of learning loss related to the COVID-19 pandemic including lost instructional time, ineffective remote instruction, increased student absences, and related trauma. One year back in the classroom full time has not been enough to recover lost ground.	True
Meaningful two-way academic communication with parents/guardians	Parents need to have meaningful communication with the school regarding the academic performance of their children. Many parents believe their student's academic achievement is stronger than it actually is. When empowered with a stronger ongoing understanding of a child's performance, parents can be more meaningful partners in increasing achievement.	True
Lower proficiency rates for special education students than regular education counterparts	Our hypothesis is that in addition to the specially designed instruction and related services that students with IEPs receive, they also need more intensive academic intervention in core academic subjects across the board.	False
